

ABSTRACT

A process for the recovery of natural gas liquids (NGL) (ethane, ethylene, propane, propylene and heavier hydrocarbons) from liquefied natural gas (LNG) is disclosed. The LNG feed stream is split with at least one portion used as an external
5 reflux, without prior treatment, to improve the separation and recovery of the natural gas liquids (NGL).